EXPLORE TIDE POOLS

At low tide, you can explore some of the best tide pools in California. Tide pools are home to plants and animals that are uniquely adapted to their surroundings, which change from wet to dry throughout the day, depending on the ocean tides.

EXPLORE UNIQUE FLORA AND FAUNA

Walk along the Coastside Trail and you may discover native plant species such as California poppies, beach primroses, sand verbena, wild radish, mustard, coyote bush, and yellow bush lupines.

Take a short walk down the staircase at Cañada Verde and you will find a wide sandy beach. Spend some time on the sand and you might encounter birds such as western snowy plovers, gulls, brown pelicans, or sanderlings.
