The Ritz-Carlton, Langkawi welcomes you to immerse yourself in an authentic Langkawian experience deeply rooted in local culture, environmental adventure and a warm Malaysian spirit. Overlooking the Andaman Sea and surrounded by a 10-million-year-old rainforest, the oceanfront resort combines natural beauty, culture and luxury in one spectacular setting.

ARRIVE
42 hectares of beautifully landscaped water-rich tropical gardens with stunning panoramic views over the turquoise colored Andaman sea, the million year old rainforest enchants with the magic of native legends.
Located off the west coast of Peninsula Malaysia, Langkawi is an enchanting archipelago of 104 tiny deserted islands sprinkled over the emerald green Andaman Sea. Accorded in 2007 the status of the very first UNESCO GEOPARK in Southeast Asia, the island is famous for its rich geo-diversity, unique flora and fauna and a vibrant blend of local cultures. Fascinating jungle walks with a passionate nature guide will let you discover the mysteries of the surrounding rainforest.
Steeped in legends, Langkawi lures with white sandy beaches, magnificent limestone formations, pristine waterfalls, mysterious caves and sleepy villages surrounded by vast paddy fields. Overgrown with 10 million years old rainforests and honeycombed with a labyrinth of secret mangrove water channels, the island is home to rare tropical plants and wildlife species hard to find anywhere else in the world.
Built as a tribute to the surrounding nature, each of our luxurious suites and lavish villas has its very own appeal - allowing you to unveil the mysteries surrounding the rainforest, unwind and attune to the infinite blue of the calm ocean or to completely escape the world as you hide away on your private beach.
